

LECTIO INAUGURALIS RODOLFO DEBENEDETTI CHAIR IN LABOUR ECONOMICS THE FUTURE OF LABOUR MARKET POLICIES

5 JUNE 2024
11:30AM - 1:00PM
Auditorium Grande
SDA Bocconi School of Management
Via Sarfatti 10

Labour markets are going through constant and fast-paced changes. New technologies shape the future of work and how workers and firms match on the labour market. New norms change behaviors and institutions on the labour market, and how wages are set.

The Lectio will discuss empirical evidence on the role of labour market policies to ease the labour market responses. How can labour policies help to grasp new opportunities of progress, while addressing inequality issues?

11:00AM
REGISTRATION OF THE PARTICIPANTS

11:30AM
WELCOME ADDRESSES
FRANCESCO BILLARI Rector, Bocconi University
CARLO DE BENEDETTI Entrepreneur and Publisher

LECTIO INAUGURALIS
THOMAS LE BARBANCHON Rodolfo De Benedetti Chair in Labour Economics, Bocconi University

KEYNOTE SPEECH
DAVID CARD Professor of Economics, UC Berkeley and Nobel Memorial Prize in Economics, 2021

INTERVIEW
THOMAS LE BARBANCHON
ELENA PANZERA Senior Vice President HR EMEA and AP, SAS interviewed by
MARIANGELA PIRA Journalist, Sky Italia

CLOSING REMARKS
ANDREA SIRONI President, Università Bocconi

A cocktail reception will follow.

Registration required.

REGISTRATION FORM

FOR INFORMATION
eventi@unibocconi.it

